Emerging author M.Smith publishes urban crime short stories at smash words.com

(Atlanta, Georgia, 2022) M.Smith has released his debut collection of flash fiction stories in the urban crime genre. The collection is available now at smash words.com free to download.

The first story “ The Bookie” is an old school gangster love triangle turned violent. A crooked bookie and a cheating mob wife have to dispose of the dead mob boss on the floor of the hotel bathroom.

The next story is the sequel to the first story. In “The Bookie II” Peter must make it to his wife and children, so that they can flee to Wyoming.

The third story “ The Okie doke” is a old school mystery story, the assumed deceased Marvin Mansfield is back to cause Hell in the life of a broken detective. Based in San Francisco in the mid 70’s.

The fourth story “ Get Rump” is a vivid tale of cat and mouse, where no character is to be trusted and survival is not a guarantee. When the big dog Boss hog’s package comes up missing, bodies start to drop all over The Westend of Atlanta.

The next short is an excerpt from a full fiction novel entitled “ Of da beast” where a band of young car thieves take on the twelves and the cartel for control of the streets and retaliation for a fallen friend.

M. Smith is a writer/recording artist out of Atlanta, GA. His focus is in the urban fiction and crime genres, but he also dabbles in the fantasy/ mystery genres as well. He is currently working on his B.F.A at Full sail university online.
